

Acknowledgments

We would like to thank all the contributors to this volume not only for their essays, but for their fruitful and enjoyable collaboration more generally.

During the period when we worked on the volume, we interacted with a large number of people whose helpful comments and broader support we would like to acknowledge as well, including: Andy Arana, Bahram Assadian, Steve Awodey, Neil Barton, Francesca Biagioli, André Carus, Günther Eder, Philip Ehrlich, William Ewald, Juliet Floyd, Marco Giovanelli, Eduardo Giovannini, Norbert Gratzl, Mirja Hartimo, Henning Heller, Pierre Keller, Ansten Klev, Johannes Korbmacher, Martin Kusch, Hannes Leitgeb, Øystein Linnebo, Paolo Mancosu, Jean-Pierre Marquis, Chris Menzel, Marco Panza, Inger Bakken Pedersen, Esther Ramharter, Vincenzo de Risi, Andrea Sereni, Stewart Shapiro, Clinton Tolley, John Wigglesworth, and Richard Zach.

In addition, we would like to thank Florian Kolowrat and Henning Heller for their editorial assistance.

This project received funding from the European Research Council (ERC) under the European Union's Horizon 2020 research and innovation program (Grant Agreement No. 715222).